Purpose Statement

The purpose of this knowledge-based independent study will assist staff give participants a thorough review and update about Mood Disorders in Parkinson's Disease (PD). PD is a progressive neurodegenerative disorder leading to decline in motor function. PD has a whole complex of non-motor symptoms including neuropsychiatric symptoms. This presentation will focus on mood and depressive disturbances in PD such as depression, anxiety and apathy.

Depressive and mood disorders are common throughout the course of PD and have distinct emotional features. Mood disorders are treatable and when treated effectively into remission excess disability can be reduced and quality of life improved for the PD patient. A targeted and individualized approach that uses psychiatric treatment as well as non-pharmacologic treatments is outlined. This program will raise new awareness and provide skills to clinicians to help them recognize, assess, and treat mood disorders and better integrate mental health care delivery with PD care.

Target Audience

The following comprise the target audience for this conference: Physicians, Physician Assistants, Nurses (RNs, NPs, LPNs), Psychologists, Social Workers and healthcare professionals.

Outcome/Objectives

At the conclusion of this educational program, learners will be able to:

1. describe the occurrence of depressive phenomena at different stages of Parkinson's Disease;

Disclosure Statement

The VA Employee Education System (EES) must ensure balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor in all of its individually sponsored or jointly EES sponsored educational activities. All prospective faculty and planning committee members participating in an EES activity must disclose any relevant financial interest or other relationship with: (a) the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and / or provider(s) of commercial services discussed in an educational presentation, and (b) any commercial supporters of the activity. Relevant financial interest or other relationship includes, but is not limited to, such things as personal receipt of grants or research support, employee or consultant status, stockholder, member of speakers' bureau, within the prior 12 months. EES is responsible for collecting such information from prospective planners and faculty, evaluating the disclosed information to determine if a conflict of interest is present and, if a conflict of interest is present, to resolve such conflict. Information regarding such disclosures and the resolution of the conflicts for planners and faculty shall be provided to activity participants. When an unlabeled use of a commercial product or an investigational use not yet approved by the FDA for any purpose is discussed during an educational activity, EES shall require the speaker to disclose that the product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is still investigational.

The faculty and planning committee members reported that they had no relevant financial relationships with commercial entities in any amount that occurred within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest.

This activity includes no discussion of uses of FDA regulated drugs or medical devices which are experimental or off-label.

* The ACCME defines "relevant financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that creates a conflict of interest.
